Policies

Access to studios

Studios are not accessible to students outside of course times. You may arrive 5 minutes before the start of your course, giving tutors preparation time to set up for your course session. Please allow sufficient time to clean up before the end of your course session so the studio is clean and tidy for the next group. For ceramics courses please note we can only fire ceramics that have been produced during courses at Camden Arts Centre.

Collecting work

During term time, please be ready to take home your work at the end of each session as storage is limited and we cannot guarantee the safety of your work between sessions. Work that requires drying may be stored until the following session. You must not enter the Drawing or Ceramics Studios unattended, for assistance please ask staff at the Bookshop.

All work must be taken home on the last day of the course. Any work which requires drying will be stored no longer than 2 weeks after the end of the course.

Course structures

Courses at Camden Arts Centre give participants the opportunity to learn new skills and techniques. The course you will be attending has been designed by an experienced tutor who will determine content, structure and amount of work that can be achieved within the time frame of the course. By booking on a course you are agreeing to follow the structure as planned by the tutor and as disseminated on the first day of the course. From January 2017 course structures will be available to view online at the booking stage.

Five week courses

Five week courses run twice. Please only book a single place on one of the two courses to ensure as many people as possible are able to participate.

Ceramics: Progression and ability levels

Please book onto the appropriate level course for your ability. Course attendees wishing to work on personal projects for the whole duration of a course are encouraged to book onto Ceramics Personal Style. Recommended experience levels are suggested within the course content.

Conduct

Camden Arts Centre encourages a positive working environment and as such we expect people to be courteous and respectful towards all members of staff and other participants and visitors at all times. All course participants are asked to:

- Be mindful of their fellow course attendees needs and to ensure fair use of studio space and materials.
- Respect and observe the rights and feelings of fellow course attendees.
- The decision of Camden Arts Centre is final in relation to all matters of conduct and discipline.
- Camden Arts Centre will not tolerate violence or intimidating behaviour towards staff or other visitors and participants.

Café Guidelines

Our Café offers a fresh daily selection of home-style food, fresh juices and hot drinks. The Café is a franchise and runs as a separate business to the Centre and is open to everyone. - Food and drinks purchased outside the centre may not be eaten within the Café area.
- We operate a first come first served policy.
- We do not reserve tables or offer a pre-booking on food service.
- During busy times please be patient.
- Patrons and Friends members of Camden Arts Centre are entitled to 10% discount on food and drinks, and should show a current membership card to be entitled to the discount in the Café.
